

FEDERAL LAXITY IN ENFORCEMENT OF LAWS CLAIMED

Witness Tells of Inability To Secure Prosecution On Booze Cases

LET OFF ON FINES

Federal Officer Says Chicago Brewery Case Dropped by Justice Department

(By the Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, April 8.—Continuing its inquiry into the prohibition situation in Illinois, the senate Daugherty committee today heard further charges of lax enforcement and "protection" by federal and state officials.

Brice F. Armstrong, a prohibition agent, who testified at length at yesterday's session against was on the witness stand and one of his complaints was that the "Western brewery case" was nolle prossed on orders from the department of justice at Washington, although local investigators believed the case should be pressed.

Armstrong said he and other agents had seized 18 half-barrels of 3 percent beer from the brewery and recommended prosecution. W. O. Potter, United States attorney at East St. Louis, the witness said, told him that he had instructions from the department to drop the case and that it was done.

It was stated by the secretary of the brewery company at the time, Armstrong added, that a $5,000 "offer in settlement" had been accepted by the government.

The witness told also of failures to prosecute in the Garden City brewery case and efforts made to remove him as enforcement agent because he would not "stop buying" liquor at saloons "they" did not want prosecuted. Armstrong estimated that he had reported 1,000 to 1,500 cases but never had been called as a witness in a criminal case until six months ago. The accused for the most part were freed "with small fines" the witness said.

MASS MEETING CALLED FOR BASEBALL PARLEY

A phone call was received from promoters of the proposed Interstate Baseball League advising that five of the six towns that were scheduled for berths in the league have made definite arrangements to join the league and they are now awaiting action from Ada.

A few weeks ago Messrs Rogers and McConnell, well known baseball promoters, came to Ada to find out whether or not Ada would enter professional baseball. At that time the proposed league was considered very uncertain by local fans and the matter was put off until more definite arrangements could be made.

It is now up to the baseball fans of Ada to say whether or not they want to get into the league. Towns that have already come in are McAlester, Holdenville, Durant, Denison and Sherman.

A mass meeting of baseball enthusiasts will be held in the Chamber of Commerce rooms in the Convention Hall tomorrow at 8 p. m. to discuss the matter and see if Ada wants to get into the league. Everyone is urged to attend.

Naval Paymaster, Long Missing With Funds, Is Located

(By the Associated Press)
SAN FRANCISCO, April 8.—A man identified as Lieut. Ervin R. Brown, U. S. navy paymaster, who disappeared with $112,000 of navy funds from Mobile, Alabama, March 10, was found last night in Golden Park, apparently suffering from amnesia. The man had $1,200 when found, talked incoherently and when questioned became violent. He is under guard in the hospital at the navy yard.

Identification was made by Lieut. Com. J. K. Nielson of the 12th naval district.

New Bid Offered For Purchase of Muscle Shoals

(By the Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, April 8.—A new bid for Muscle Shoals will be presented, probably today, before the senate agriculture committee, by James T. Lloyd, a Washington attorney and former representative from Missouri, on behalf of a private corporation.

This bid described by Mr. Lloyd as a compromise between government and private operation, provides for leasing the Muscle Shoals property for 50 years and other provisions somewhat similar to the Ford offer including the manufacture of nitrates. The new offer would provide for direct supervision of the properties by the department of agriculture.

TWO BOUND OVER FOR OLD CHARGE

Carney and Rogers Held to District Court For Shooting of Crooks

Homer T. Carney and Dan Rogers, charged with the shooting of Porter Crooks on West Main street the latter part of last year, were bound over to await the action of the district court on a charge of assault with intent to kill when they appeared before Justice Joseph Anderson in preliminary hearing this morning.

Porter Crooks, who has been confined to his bed since the date of the shooting, was not able to appear for the preliminary hearing.

In holding Carney and Rogers to district court action, Justice Anderson set their bond at $1,500 each, which was made without delay. Carney's bond was pledged with $10,000 and Rogers' bondsmen pledged $3,000.

Three witnesses were called to testify in the preliminary and evidence was found sufficient to hold the defendants. According to the charge, Rogers is alleged to have fired the shots that caused the wounds of Crooks and Carney is alleged to have supplied the pistol with which Crooks was shot.

Owing to the fact that Crooks' recovery has been uncertain for some time, the county attorney's office had not filed charges against Carney and Rogers as a result of the shooting that occurred several months ago. Should Crooks die as a result of wounds received in the fracas, charges against Carney and Rogers may be altered to a murder indictment, according to Justice Anderson.

SWOLLEN STREAMS IN NORTH CAUSE DAMAGE

(By the Associated Press)
BOSTON, April 8.—Swollen by heavy rains and melting snow several rivers in New England had overflowed their banks today causing one death and bringing injury to a score of persons and inflicting property damage estimated at $2,000,000.

In the Springfield-Westfield river valley yesterday conditions were reported to be the worst since 1878. With large district inundated the Connecticut flood waters are expected to reach their peak today or tomorrow.

Transport lines are seriously affected throughout New England. The situation was most acute in the Springfield district of the Connecticut valley. At Westfield an unidentified man about 25 years old was drowned.

"Fighting Piece of Furniture", Fined for Two Police Charges

"A fighting piece of furniture" the name attributed here by her attorney, was fined for fighting and disturbing the peace and quiet of darkness in a sensational police court trial this morning.

Hattie Burrough, negress who is alleged to have been the terror of downtown flats, boasted that she had whipped the "yeller gal" who had stolen her man, was fined for fighting and for disturbing the peace the limit of city fines going to her on the final charge.

Before an audience of possibly 50 fans, she bared her conquest which led to a brawl on the downtown street of negro section Sunday.

Secrecy Cloaking Trials of New Helicopter in U. S. Territory

The present Berliner helicopter (above), and earlier model (below) which made the first successful helicopter flight in the United States.

WASHINGTON, April 5.—A barrier of secrecy suddenly thrown about the tests of a vertical flying machine by the army air service is leading aero experts in the capital to conclude that America has won the international race to develop the first practical helicopter.

(In aeronautics, the generally accepted definition of a helicopter is, a screw-propelled vertical flying machine, especially one in which lifting is accomplished by two horizontal propellers revolving in opposite directions.)

It is known that the machine being tested was built by Henry A. Berliner, at College Park, Md., nearby, at his own expense. Lieutenant Harold R. Harris of McCook Field, Dayton, came to Washington and put it through some secret trials. A conference followed immediately at McCook Field in which Berliner participated. Then the whole matter was surrounded by secrecy.

Previous trials of helicopters have been public. The propellers (as shown in the photo accompanying this story) are located above the wings of the machine, which resembles a triplane in shape. Oscillation, an aero obstacle, is said to have been eliminated.

Berliner Long at Work.
Harry Berliner, builder of the machine, and his father, Emil, a noted inventor, have been endeavoring for more than 20 years. Two coprs for more than 20 years. Two years ago they demonstrated a vertical-rising plane before experts of the navy department. The demonstration bore no fruits, and they went to work on another plane.

The first successful flight of a helicopter in the United States took place at McCook Field in January, 1923, when Dr. George de Bothezat, Russian, in a machine that cost him $200,000 to build rose six feet in the air and remained one minute and 40 seconds. Later he bettered this mark.

No one knows how far back men have been endeavoring to build a vertical flying machine, but there have been conspicuous attempts to develop one in both Europe and the United States for many years. A huge prize has been offered in Great Britain for the first successful flight by one. France is offering inducements to its inventors to construct a plane that doesn't require the long take-off demanded by present fliers and in Germany and Scandinavia efforts are being made to the same end.

One of the machines entered for the $250,000 prize of the British air ministry is a Curtis helicopter operating on the suction plan. It is a 15-foot U-shaped funnel of wood, aluminum and canvas, covered a double-motored, double-propeller lifting machine. By driving the wind under the canvas, the machine is supposed to lift itself perpendicularly.

Other Guard Units Sent to Kentucky Mine War Center

(By the Associated Press)
FRANKFORT, Ky., April 8.—Governor Fields today ordered a troop of cavalry to Straight Creek to reinforce national guardsmen already on duty in the disturbed district of the coal mining area.

FRANKFORT, Ky., April 8.—Indications are that another national guard unit may be sent to Straight Creek, Kentucky, heart of the mine war. Gov. Fields informed the Associated Press today.

Machine gun, infantry and cavalry units have already been dispatched. Decision to send the cavalry was made on a report from Adutant General Rehoe that provokers and guardsmen had exchanged sharp rifle fire near the Liberty Coal and Coke Co.'s mines which are being operated on a not-union basis. No casualties were reported. The cavalry troops ordered out is stationed here. It is expected to reach Straight creek tonight.

ADA MAY HOUSE FEDERAL COURT

Congressman McKeown Reports Passage of Ada Court Bill by House

The News is in receipt of the following telegram from Congressman Tom D. McKeown:

"House has just passed court bill for Ada. It now goes to the senate. Members of the bar should send in data to get past the senate."

The message refers to a bill he introduced sometime ago providing for locating a federal court at Ada. With an additional judge for Oklahoma several towns will be added to the list for terms of federal court. Several other towns are likewise after a court and quite a scramble is in progress.

On receiving the telegram The News at once got in touch with several members of the Ada bar and was assured that no time would be lost in complying with Mr. McKeown's suggestion that the matter be taken up at once with the senators. The attitude of the Oklahoma senators will have great bearing on the final determination of new court towns, since the other senators will not be greatly interested in the matter.

In case the court is located here the convention hall will doubtless be tendered for use until permanent quarters can be secured. If a court is located here it will make a federal building almost a necessity.

Four Physicians in State Charge

Unethical Practices Charged To Four in Medical Board Report

(By the Associated Press)
OKLAHOMA CITY, April 8.—Charges of unethical practices naming four Oklahoma physicians were filed today before the state board of medical examiners meeting here and trials started at once with Mrs. Katherine Van Leuven, assistant state attorney general, prosecuting the cases.

The defendants are Dr. H. P. Clark, Tulsa; Dr. W. C. Faggard, Antioch; Dr. N. J. Hamilton, Itasca; and Dr. Howell B. Gwin, Tulsa.

The trial is before the board and according to Dr. J. M. Bynum of Shawnee, secretary of the board, conviction would bring revocation of the licenses.

The doctors named in the charges with the exception of Dr. Faggard, are alleged to have conducted unethical advertising campaigns and to have promised cures of certain ailments. Dr. Faggard is alleged to have been intoxicated in a public place.

It was stated at the board's meeting place that reports were to be heard later in the day on alleged violations of the federal narcotic laws by physicians and that charges may be made against other members of the profession.

SIX DELEGATES FROM CANAL ZONE TO FAVOR McADOO
(By the Associated Press)
PANAMA, April 8.—The six delegates from the Canal Zone to the Democratic national convention who were chosen last night will go to New York instructed to support William G. McAdoo for the nomination.

A large number of women attended the meeting but made no effort to secure representation at New York. Mrs. D. F. Reeder, a member of the last national convention, delivered the opening address.

WRANGLES ENDED BETWEEN SAPULPA AND SISTER TOWN

(By the Associated Press)
BRISTOW, April 8.—Not always so friendly, Sapulpa and Bristow, once at daggers points over the location of the county seat of Creek county, have healed over all the old wounds and have broken bread together at a luncheon where more than 300 citizens of the two towns assembled.

A feature of the affair was the mock wedding of Mr. Sapulpa and Miss Bristow, the ceremony being performed by Judge Ben Braden of Sapulpa. The bride confessed she had been wooed by others, but finally had consented to wed Sapulpa because she had found other suitors didn't measure up to her expectations.

MUSKOGEE RACES ON KLAN ISSUE

Candidate Files Libel Suit Against Charges of Newspaper

(By the Associated Press)
MUSKOGEE, April 8.—A record vote was forecast in today's municipal election in which the Ku Klux Klan is the sole issue. When the polls opened at 6 o'clock voters found both klan and anti-klan forces equipped with numerous motor cars to transport voters. The voting in the early hours was heavy.

Jack Land, a prominent insurance man and alleged former cyclops of the klan here, filed a libel suit this morning for a quarter of a million dollars damages against a local morning newspaper for alleged libel. Land was quoted by the newspaper as advising a meeting of the klan that there would be no indictments from the federal grand jury inquiring into a whipping the klan was accused of inflicting. Land was a member of the grand jury at the time and was represented by the newspaper as saying there were sufficient klansmen on the grand jury to prevent an investigation into the affair.

Land's suit names in addition to the publishing company its stockholder, Connie Russell, Byron Bronson, W. H. Ballard and S. C. Williams. They made affidavits as to what Land is alleged to have said at the meeting. These affidavits were published by the newspaper. All polling places were closely guarded by deputy sheriffs and police in street clothing. Reports of difficulties at two precincts were found to be groundless upon investigation.

Daugherty Makes Charge
(By the Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, April 8.—Former Attorney General Daugherty said today he had been advised that his residence at Columbus, Ohio, now unoccupied, had been entered by force last week and many of his private papers rifled.

REVENUE BILL ORDERED REPORTED FAVORABLY

(By the Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, April 8.—The new revenue bill was ordered favorably reported to the senate today by the finance committee.

It provides, as reported for a retroactive reduction of 25 percent of the 1923 income taxes which are payable this year; a permanent revision of income tax rates in accordance with the plan of Secretary Mellon; a special reduction of 25 percent in taxes on earned incomes and repeals many of the miscellaneous and excise taxes.

The scope of tax reduction was narrowed, however, from that provided by the house bill warning of a treasury deficit under its terms having forced the restoration of some of the miscellaneous taxes stricken out during the house consideration of the measure.

Inexpensive Treatment of Bob-Haired Necks Reaches Climax
The carefree life of a bob-haired girl is to receive a jolt at the hands of attending barbers. These artists and philanthropic attendants on the feminine clientele have revolted from the invasion of flippant misses, who poise lightly perch in the swinging chair and rest demurely while the barber runs his clippers up and down the swan-like neck and then receives a gracious "thank you" in payment for his time and counsel.

According to a rising vote of the Barber's Union at their last charges of ten cents will be made for each time they clip the unsightly undergrowth resultant of the bob.

No longer will the barber profession bow to the breathless influx of femininity where whiskered elders parked in bygone days and allow their efforts to be lost in courtesy to the flippant clientele.

STATE PRIMARIES VOICE SENTIMENT FOR CANDIDATES

Michigan and Illinois Seek To Establish Claims in Presidential Race

NEBRASKA COUNTED

Coolidge Heavy Winner Over Hiram Johnson in Minnesota

(By the Associated Press)
DETROIT, April 7.—Hiram Johnson who carried Michigan in the 1920 presidential primary by a plurality of more than 44,000 today trailed Calvin Coolidge by approximately 92,000 votes as reports from 1,879 of Michigan's 2,890 precincts were tabulated in Monday's primary.

Henry Ford had a lead of 2,681 over United States Senator Woodbridge N. Ferris in the contest for preferment as the Democratic candidate. The reports were from 1,851 precincts and included all but scattering precincts from Wayne county (Detroit.)

CHICAGO, April 8.—Interest in national politics centers today on the Illinois primary in which President Coolidge and Senator Hiram Johnson of California, make their bid for the 61 delegates to the Republican national convention.

Overshadowing the present contest in state interest, however, is the race between Gov. Len Small and Thurlow G. Effenham, state senator, for the Republican gubernatorial nomination which has developed into possibly the bitterest factional struggle in the state's history.

Partisans of all candidates early today maintained their claims of victory and were unanimous in anticipating a record vote, possibly exceeding 2,000,000.

OMAHA, April 8.—President Calvin Coolidge and Senator Hiram Johnson of California in a state wide primary today are seeking Nebraska's endorsement for the Republican presidential nomination and 19 delegates to the national convention. The name of no Democratic candidate for presidential preference appears on the ballot but blank spaces have been left for the voters to write in the names.

WIDNEY FILLS PULPIT IN METHODIST CHURCH

Charles L. Widney, minister of the St. Luke's Episcopal church, led the Methodist revival Monday evening with the subject, "Self Denial" as his theme for the large crowd that filled the auditorium of the Methodist church.

Rev. E. O. Whitwell, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, will preach at the services tonight. The singing of Mr. and Mrs. Bonney continued to reach a high note of approval, the singer featuring in a solo and also a duet accompanied by his wife. Bonney meets with the grade students each afternoon at 4:10 and with the high school and college singers at 7 o'clock. A large number of singers in both departments responded to the invitation yesterday.

In his sermon last night, Reverend Widney stressed the importance of self-denial of life pleasures as an essential to the service of God. The minister however, declared that self-denial did not mean isolation in the service of God but rather self-control in the midst of worldly temptations.

SHOPS IN ALBANIAN TOWN CLOSED TO RESPECT AMERICAN
(By the Associated Press)
TIRANA, Albania, April 8.—All shops were closed today out of respect to Robert Louis Cormon and George B. Delong, Americans slain by bandits on the road between Scutari and the capital Sunday. The car transporting the bodies of the victims was saluted upon its arrival by a crowd which included many notables.

The national assembly suspended its session five minutes as a mark of respect and there was a popular manifestation of sympathy before the American legation.

Horror Reigns in Honduras
(By the Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, April 8.—A reign of horror prevails in Tegucigalpa, capital of Honduras, dead bodies being strewn around the outskirts of the city with natives actually dying in squalor. It was reported today in brief advices to the state department.

To Probe Railroad Grants.
(By the Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, April 8.—A resolution to authorize investigation by a joint congressional committee of land grants to the Northern Pacific Railway Co. was approved today by the house public lands committee.

Are You Fair to our home town Merchants?

When money is slack; when crops fail; when credit is needed it is the home town merchant whom we seek for friendly service. He tides us over with credit; he charges no interest; he provides us with reliable, guaranteed merchandise fairly priced.

In short, he "holds the bag for us." That is why he deserves all our patronage in times of plenty as well as in days of stress.

And isn't it a pity that there are many who use him only as a leaning post—to tide them over the slack days and use their cash to fill the coffers of the big town mail order houses who wouldn't trust them over night—with, or without, interest.

We all need that merchant—we need his confidence, his friendship. Our town needs his enterprise—the service he renders in handling only guaranteed, first-grade goods that he is here to stand back of day in and day out.

Let's give him our cash when we have it. Let's pay his bills as promptly as we can. Let's earn, and merit, the confidence he has placed in us and in our community. Let's support him—we need him and he needs us, our trade, and our unselfish good will.

"be fair!"

OUR OWN RESORTS.

For the summer vacationist who can't get away for more than a few days or a couple of weeks at the most, Southern Oklahoma offers some of the finest resorts in the country.

Sulphur has a national reputation as a watering resort, where those who are in falling health get new grip of life.

Devil's Den in Johnston county is filled with some of the most beautiful scenery and natural beauty that the sun has even shone on. Pennington creek is filled with fish and there are bathing pools galore.

Turner Falls and Princess Falls offer a harbinger to those who want to get away from the din and dust of the city and 'just rest.' Both places offer swimming and opportunity to hike and tramp over the hills.

Oil Springs, just out of Ardmore, is a delightful place to spend a day or two. It is accessible by good roads and many persons go there to enjoy moonlight suppers and swimming parties.

Lawton and Medicine Park on the west, with the Kiamichi mountains in Southern Oklahoma, also draw a great many tourists from this section.

Oklahoma is a fine state and thus offers advantages for those who call it home.—Ardmoreite.

Not since the days of Andrew Johnson has a president met so many rebuffs at the hands of congress as has President Coolidge. Whether he politely requests, suggests, demands or threatens the result is the same most of the time—congress goes contrary to his wishes. He opposed the soldier bonus, congress passed it; he opposed the Bursum pension bill, congress passed it; he favored the Mellon revenue bill, there was a contest between the two houses of congress to see which could mutilate it the more; he asked that the time for the taking effect of the Japanese exclusion act be postponed, congress went ahead and ignored his request; he criticised congress for spending so much time carrying on investigations and straightway was called a meddler and the investigations went on as before. On paper Coolidge's party has a majority in both houses of congress but in practice the majority often becomes a minority.

Dr. Cook, who claimed to have discovered the North Pole, is about to regain his freedom for a time at least after spending six months in the county jail at Fort Worth after being given a long term for oil frauds. His bond has been reduced from $75,000 to $45,000 and if he makes it he will be free until a higher court passes on his appeal. Meantime his victims are out many hard earned dollars and no matter how long Cook serves in jail or the penitentiary they will not be benefitted financially. However, it will be some satisfaction to know that he is not having a chance to enjoy any of the results of his golden harvest.

Times have not changed much since the author of the book of Acts in the New Testament described the riot at Ephesus stirred up by the silversmiths whose business of making and selling silver idols was threatened when the people began to give ear to the preaching of Paul. The idol makers simply got out in the streets and raised the cry: "Great is Diana of the Ephesians." Every fellow who came along took it up, although the writer says few knew what it was all about. Those leaders would make good politicians if they were living today.

Somehow the speech of Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia university in favor of modifying the liquor laws did not call forth a general round of approval as he probably hoped. The some old wet bunch applauded but in all other quarters he has come in for a lot of criticism. His plea to give up the fight because the bootleggers refuse to obey the law roused much unfavorable comment for it would indeed be a sorry reflection on the power of the government to surrender to the lawless elements. If it should give way to the bootleggers why not do the same for other criminals.

If W. A. Durant goes ahead and forces purchasers and lessees of state school lands to pay up he will merit the commendation of the entire citizenship of the state. It is from these lands that funds are to be drawn for the education of the children of Oklahoma and when the debtors do not pay the difference must be made good in taxes. It is certainly not fair to tax the rest of the state in order that a few hundred favored individuals may have free use of lands belonging to the children.

Good showing of oil or gas or both have been found in almost every well that has been drilled in this county. While we do not know anything about geology, we do believe there must be big pools of oil here somewhere. It seems only reasonable that the sands must thicken up in places and there gushers will be found. At any rate, the oil men seem determined to give the county a real test this summer.

GOODBYE BURNS.

Sometime ago the News remarked that the reputation of William J. Burns, chief of the secret service bureau of the government was in fair way to be damaged by the revelations developed by the several investigating committees. Subsequent events have verified this view.

The finishing stroke was administered when under a gruelling cross-examination before a senate committee Burns admitted that he had detailed men to trail Senator Wheeler and others who were making trouble for Daugherty, Fall et al. This was done, he said at Daugherty's order.

When the Wheeler indictment was returned in Montana Daugherty hastened to assure the public that he had had nothing to do with it. Now comes Burns and says Daugherty ordered him to push the indictment along so as to discredit Wheeler. Another black mark for Daugherty.

As for Burns his close association with Daugherty, McLean and the tribe now under fire in several questionable transactions has discredited him in the eyes of the nation. Indeed, it has been charged that he kept his men away from the trails of Volstead law violators and rum runners who chanced to have the pull in the proper places. If he departed from the straight path in this instance the public will no longer regard him as one of the world's greatest detectives, for a crooked detective is a menace that people who want a square deal will avoid.

HANDLING BOYS.

One of the problems society has not yet properly solved is the handling of the wayward boy. We have tried sending them to reformatories, to prison, and letting them go back home on probation. One practice has worked in some cases and others in others, and all have failed in other cases.

Victor P. Arnold, Judge of the Juvenile Court of Cook County, Illinois, says:

"I am convinced from experience that it generally is far easier to straighten a boy out and give him a right start outside an institution of correction and before he has been branded by a commitment, than after he has been committed."

While this is generally true, there are boys who are so strongly criminally inclined that correction is almost impossible out of an institution and often even impossible in one.

There is just one solution of the difficult problem and that is well nigh impossible practice. The judge must be such a judge of human nature, and especially such a judge of child psychology, that he can tell the child who can be reformed at home, the one who can be reformed in an institution and the one who cannot be reformed at all and must be dealt with as a hardened criminal. There are such men, though they are difficult to find.

Okmulgee is having a tough time with the Interstate Commerce Commission. The Katy railroad wants to build a line to that city from Oaktah, Muskogee county, and on through to some point in Okfuskee county, the idea being to open some new coal mines. However, in these latter days railroads must get the O. K. of the commission before they do any building and in this instance the reply to the request of the road and the city has been "Nay, Pauline." However, Okmulgee is in no mood to give up the fight and a bunch will go from there to Washington in the near future to try to convince the commission that it is wrong.

The Sulphur Democrat has changed hands, John H. Casteel having sold out to O. C. Riley and F. A. Smith, formerly of Tulsa. The News extends a fraternal greeting and wishes the new owners success in their enterprise. Judge Casteel is a lawyer by profession and has not devoted full time to the newspaper, but he has been connected with it a number of years and recognized as a full fledged member of the newspaper fraternity of Oklahoma. The News hopes he will continue to succeed in his chosen profession.

The Pittsburg County Guardian thus pays its respects to those members of the legislature and those county officers who supported and urged the passage of the law extending the term of county officers. It's good reasoning too:

"And above all things, no man who voted for the four-year term of county officers should be returned to the Oklahoma legislature this year. Nor should any candidate who is known to have espoused this cause while the bill was in the legislature be elected to office. That bill was not intended to help anybody but the office-holder."

There seems little doubt now that McAdoo will go into the Democratic convention with more votes than any other candidate for the presidential nomination. If some of the eastern bosses can keep him from being nominated, it is entirely likely they will do that. In such event, it would not be surprising to see the nomination go to Carter Glass, Josephus Daniels or William Jennings Bryan. And the country could do much worse than elect either of these men to the highest office. All are clean and capable.

The conviction of Congressman Langley of Kentucky for conspiracy in securing liquor withdrawal permits following closely on the conviction of Gov. McCray of Indiana indicates that this is a bad year for politicians in courts. Next will be indictments against Albert Fall and some of his henchmen and if convictions are also secured there the Atlanta penitentiary may have a whole colony of former office holders within its walls.

Senator Lodge's plan for a world court has occasioned many horse laughs. Everyone knows that Lodge wants no court of any kind but by pretending that he does by offering a plan he knows very well will never be accepted he hopes to keep the demand for such tribunal out of the coming campaign.

Neither obligations solemnly taken, church or party affiliations are binding on a crook. A crook is a crook no matter what he uses to mask his real self.

When other plausible explanations for suddenly resigning from a nice fat office fail, the crook who has been caught with the goods can still plead bad health.

Let a NEWS WANT AD get it for you.

EDITOR'S OWN COLUMN

"Only wooden vessels should be used for disinfection. Corrosive sublimate is a strong poison and should be kept out of reach of animals and children."

"This solution should not be used more than three or four times, as it loses its effectiveness after repeated use."

"Repeated use of the same soil in the hotbed, year after year, is probably the chief source of distributing sweet potato diseases. Soil once used in the hotbed should be hauled away and all rubbish nearly cleaned away."

"Sandy soil gives the best results. Use of stable manure is not recommended for hotbeds, as it favors the growth of black root organism."

The time for the annual township and county fairs is not so very far away and the first steps are being taken looking to making them the best in the history of the county. It is necessary to begin early in order to keep in mind the need of collecting exhibits as they come along. Following is the list of the directors from the various townships: Francis, J. E. Roberts, L. L. Lillard; Midland, Carl Solomon, I. N. Hodges; Stonewall, J. W. McKoy, C. L. Gibson; Allen, J. W. Davis, N. S. Olive; Fitzhugh, R. I. Pollock, G. J. Morton; Maxwell, Q. R. Bevers, T. E. Carmichael; Chickasaw, W. B. Johnson, W. J. Coffman.

The directors met Saturday and elected W. J. Coffman president and Carl Solomon, vice-president. The executive board consists of W. J. Coffman, J. E. Roberts, Carl Solomon, J. H. McKoy, J. W. Davis, G. J. Morton and Q. R. Bevers.

Most of the above mentioned officers and directors have assisted in the work for several years past and have devoted considerable time to it. The responsibility for the success of the fairs is largely due to the directors and the ones who have had charge in the past fully met the need. I am anxious to see the best fairs in the history of the county this year and I think they will come up to my expectations.

Uncle Sam's Whitewash Recipe.
Trim and neat, always spick and span, Uncle Sam keeps his light-house and coast guard stations in trim with a liberal use of whitewash.

Many who have been looking for a good whitewash will be interested to know how Uncle Sam keeps his property looking so white. His white wash formula is probably one of the best. It is much whiter than most mixtures and is almost as serviceable as paint, for wood, brick and stone. A pint of this wash when applied properly will cover about ten square feet of surface. Here is the formula:

"Slake half a bushel of unslacked lime with boiling water, cover during process to keep in steam, strain the liquid through a fine sieve or strainer, and add to it seven pounds of salt, previously dissolved in warm water, three pounds of ground rice boiled to a thin paste and stirred in while hot, half a pound of Spanish whiting, and one pound of clean glue, previously dissolved by soaking in cold water and then hanging over a slow fire in a small pot hung in a larger one filled with water. Add five gallons of hot water to the mixture, stir well, and let it stand for a few days, covered from dirt. It should be applied hot, for which purpose it can be kept in a kettle over an oven or a portable furnace."

If color other than pure white is desired, a number of very different shades can be had by making the following mixtures: For cream color add yellow ochre; a pearl or lead shade may be obtained by adding lamp black or four pounds of amber to one pound of Indian Red or one pound of common lamp black; common stone color calls for a proportionate four pounds of raw umber and two pounds of lamp black.

J. E. DYCHE MAY BE ASKED TO RESIGN

OKLAHOMA CITY.—R. A. Haynes, federal prohibition commissioner, has written Oklahoma Republican political leaders to ascertain the whereabouts of J. E. Dyche, who 60 days ago was given a leave of absence for two months.

Haynes in this letter to the G. O. P. leaders, states that Dyche's leave has expired and efforts to communicate with him have been futile. "I would like very much to get in touch with Dyche for I wish to request his resignation before it is necessary to drop him from the rolls," an excerpt from Haynes' letter reads:

Dyche is now managing the campaign of W. P. Pine, Okmulgee oil millionaire, for the Republican senatorial nomination.

According to his friends he accepted the management of the Pine campaign on a tentative basis, taking a 60-day leave to ascertain if the Okmulgee candidacy would last.

BRANSON TO ADDRESS ADA VOTERS HERE TUESDAY

Judge Fred Branson, candidate for the Democratic nomination for United States Senator, will be in Ada next Tuesday, May 20, and will address the voters of the county at the court house Tuesday evening.

Judge Branson is making an aggressive campaign. He has a considerable acquaintance in this county already.

It is expected that he will discuss many of the leading events of the day in his speech here next Tuesday.

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 12.—The C. R. I. & P. railroad was assessed $41,000,000 and the Southwestern Bell Telephone company $15,448,650 by the state board of equalization here today. The figures were the same as last year's assessments.

Assessments of pipe line companies of the state were to be determined at the afternoon session.

OIL NEWS

(From Wednesday's Daily)
The Lloyd well in section 6-3-7, three miles east of Ada, is a commercial well, most of those who have watched it believe. Mr. Lloyd could not be located today and his estimate on the production could not be procured. It seems to be the general opinion that it is a well as it stands now, and there would be a chance for a heavy producer were the sand drilled out.

The plan of the operators, unless it is changed, is to drill another well in this sand, using the oil from this well for fuel. The present well can, then be deepened.

Interest in the Bowles and Smith well in section 34-5-6 continues as strong as before. The well is shut down for a few days, awaiting the arrival of a rope.

This well, while the sand barely touched, is making wet gas, and oil is standing deep in the hole. The driller who was on the job at the time the sand was reached, says the bit did not penetrate the sand more than three or four inches.

The size of the well depends upon the thickness of the sand. The showing at this time indicates there may be a sensational discovery when the sand is drilled out. The hole is in good shape and there is no water except in the hole for drilling purposes, the operators say.

Hughes, in section 28-4-7, is getting ready to resume drilling.

(From Tuesday's Daily)
The Lloyd well in section 6-3-7, three miles east of Ada, continues to excite the most interest of any of the wells now under the work of the driller.

The pump was put in place late Monday, but at noon today the amount of oil in the tank was not learned. It is the general idea among oil men and among laymen who have been on the ground that it is a commercial well. Production is probably between 40 and 100 barrels. That is about as close as any one can come until after the pump has been at work for some time.

Of course, if the sand is thick and it is drilled out, the well will probably be a big one.

The same people have made a location about a hundred yards east of the present well and will begin work on it shortly. Fuel oil from the present well will be used for fuel.

The Bowles & Smith well in section 34-5-6 is still shut down, awaiting a steel rope.

LaSelle in section 31-5-5 is shut down and will be down for several days. A joint of casing is in the hole.

Hughes in section 28-4-7 has a showing of gas at 612 feet. He has had trouble with water, but thinks he has that shut off now.

Ed Gillette and Robert Galbraith are rushing matters along to get their two tests started just west of the Ada gas field. Ed says they should be under way in thirty or sixty days.

The American Oil and Refining Company on the Balthrop farm in section 9-4-6 is 1400 feet, with a showing of both oil and gas. It will be several days before anything definite will be known as to the probable production of either gas or oil.

The McDougal well across the river in section 20-6-7 is drilling at 2867 feet. The casing was set on top of a hard line at 2800, and the rest of the hole is open.

The C. J. Wrightman test in section 24-4-4 is again drilling, operations having been resumed Friday. The depth is about 400.

The Empire in section 4-2-7 is putting a gasoline engine on the ground and will operate with gasoline power after Monday. The hole is now 500 feet and is on the beam. The Wilcox offset on the south of the discovery well in the Vanoss field, section 28-3-4, is drilling at 1120 feet, and should pick up another sand around 1140. This well got a sand estimated to be good for 50 barrels at 980 feet.

BURSUM PENSION BILL VETO IS SUSTAINED

WASHINGTON.—President Coolidge's veto of the Bursum pension bill was sustained today by the senate.

The action crowned with success the first attempt of Mr. Coolidge to block legislation by exercise of the veto power.

Like President Harding, he disapproved of the bill because of the expense involved. The measure would have granted pension increases to the veterans of several wars.

The vote to override was 53 to 28, one vote less than the two-thirds required.

Write a Letter to Mother Tonight.
Don't go to the movie or concert hall.

But stay in your room tonight; Deny yourself to those who call, And a letter to mother write.

Write to the dear old mother at home, Who sits when the day is done, With folded hands and tear dimmed eyes, Thinking of her absent one.

Don't merely scribble, "Excuse my haste," I have no time to write."

Let mother's thoughts go wandering back, To the long sleepless night,

When she lost her greatly needed rest, And every breath was a prayer, That God would spare her tiny babe, To her tender love and care.

Don't think your young and jolly friends, Who make your pastime gay, Have half the tender love for you, That mother has today.

The duty of writing do not put off— Let sleep or pleasure await; Let the letter for which your mother longed, Be a day or an hour too late,

For the dear old mother at home, With hair fast turning white, Is longing to hear from her absent one.

Write her a letter tonight, —Florence Owens, Vanoss, Okla.

UNION HILL.

Alvia Adams attended church at Worstell Saturday night.

Our school will end Friday afternoon. Most of the school children will be glad, but we have enjoyed this term of school very much.

Come on, Bebee and Worstell with your news. We are always glad to read them.

TOMMIE.

OBITUARY
Mrs. J. M. Dodd, died at her home one mile north of Ada, Sunday morning at 10 o'clock. Interment at the Egypt cemetery. Bro. Tigg officiating.

Mrs. Dodd had been a true Christian for 40 years. She joined the Methodist church when 19 years of age and had lived a Christian life until death came.

Mrs. Dodd was 59 years old. She was the mother of three children and all were present. They were Mrs. P. L. Cassidy, Mrs. S. L. Skates, Mrs. L. B. Cassidy, all of Ada. She also leaves a brother, R. C. Burnes of Bonham, Texas, and a niece, Mrs. Birdie Tolison of Cober, Texas.

The children all wish to thank the people of Knox and Egypt and other places for their kindness and sympathy they were shown through their mother's illness.

At last the said bell has rung. And the parting from our mother will never be forgotten.

But Oh! so sad so lovely that mother has gone.

She as true to God and we all know Where she is yonder resting.

In that beautiful city with God. Where we know there's no parting, No trouble, no sad hearting,

And when we all meet death's doom May God help us all to be as mother was.

And upon our dying pillow Can look back and see the many deeds,

We have done as mother did. Lonely and silently God called her away.

But Oh! so said for the ones she left.

But when the sad bell rings for us May God help us all to be as mother was.

—A Friend.

CURLY LOCKS
Wilson After All

A bunch of us kids end down to the creek.

We hunted strawberries, more than we could eat.

Then we got into a fight and threw them all away, And then we climbed trees 'Most all of the day.

We had some fine banners Of very brave stuff And not a one of the bunch Could hardly be bluffed.

We ran over hills, Waded water knee deep, We jumped from high rocks. Off into the creek.

We had a nice ball game Which was somewhat small But we did not get discouraged No, not in the least at all.

We wish that our school Was still going on; We would make it the best That ever was known.

But the attendance I suppose Would be very, very small For we'd hardly have the time right now To go to school at all.

Cause most people are planting Cotton, And the corn is needing chopping And we have to work 'most every day.

Oh, we sure do like the summer time, When we can swing on the old grapevine, And when we can wade the water blue, And also go a swimming too.

Everybody is busy with the crops and planting cotton.

CHOCTAW HOLDINGS TO BE SOLD THIS FALL

WASHINGTON.—All unsold property of the Choctaw tribes will be disposed of at public auction this fall by the interior department. The decision was reached following a series of conferences between Congressman C. D. Carter of Oklahoma and officials of the Indian bureau.

The total value of the property is estimated at $11,693,715. It is made up of 369,222 acres of coal lands and 40,000 acres of the surface of segregated mineral lands.

Attempts have been made by Carter for the past several months to influence the bureau to agree to the sale. Approval had been withheld, however, as the result of an unfavorable report from S. E. Wallen, superintendent of the Muskogee agency.

Carter contended that the sale of the property had been pending too long and disagreed with Wallen's statement that financial conditions in Oklahoma do not warrant holding of an auction at this time.

In the Days of Poor Richard

The young men walked to their places and at this point the graphic Major Solomon Binkus, whose keen eyes observed every detail of the scene, is able to assume the position of narrator, the words which follow being from a letter he wrote to John Irons of Albany.

"Our young David stood up there as straight as a young sapling, a young spruce on a still day—not a quiver in any twig. The Clarke boy was a little pale as when he raised his pistol I could see a twitch in his lips. He looked kind of stiff. I see they were one thing 'bout shootin' he hadn't learnt. It don't do to deny it—'cause a gun don't allus have to be p'inted careful to kill a man.

"We all stood watchin' every move. I could hear a bird singin' twenty rods 'twere that still. Preston stood a little out o' line 'bout half-way betwixt 'em. Up came his hand with the han'kerchief in it. Then Jack raised his pistol and took a peek down the line he wanted. The han'kerchief was in the air. Don't seem so it had fell an inch when the pistols went pop! pop! Jack's holloed fust. Clarke's pistol fell. His arm dropped an' swung limp as a rope's end. His hand turned red an' blood began to spurt above it. I see Jack's bullet had jumped into his right wrist an' tore it wide open. The lieutenant staggered, bleedin' like a stuck whale. He'd 'a' gone to the ground, but his friends grabbed him. I run to Jack.

"Be ye hit? I says.

"I think his bullet teched me a little on the top o' the left shoulder," says he.

"I see his coat were tore an' we took it off an' the jacket, an' I ripped the shirt some an' see that the bullet had kind o' scuffed its foot on his skin goin' by, an' left a track in the skin. It didn't mount to nothin'. The doctor washed it off an' put a plaster on.

"Looks as if he'd drawed a line on yer heart an' yer bullet had lifted his aim," I says. "Ye shoot quick, Jack, an' mebbe that what saved ye."

"It looked kind o' meevourous like that 'ere Englishman had intended they was goin' to be one Yankee less. Jack put on his jacket an' his coat an' we stepped over to see how they was gettin' along with the other feller. The two doctors was tryin' fer to fix his arm and he was groanin' severe. Jack leaned over and looked at him.

"I'm sorry," he says. "Is there any thing I can do?"

VETS TO OBSERVE DAY OF MEMORIAL

Fitting Program to be Rendered to Commemorate Deeds of Heroes

The Norman Howard Post, American Legion will dwell with its dead of war on May 30, Memorial Day.

In the midst of frenzied preparations to receive the hordes of state veterans who come here July 28, to frolic in their annual state convention, the Norman Howard post as a body will cease its labors and pay tribute to those who died in the service of the flag.

While those in charge do not intend to make the occasion one of elaborate nature, an impressive and fitting eulogy will be paid along with the flowers as memorial offerings to the deeds of comrades, falling in service during the World war.

Due simplicity is intended in the program that will be arranged within the next week, Commander Robert S. Kerr intimated.

Commander Kerr intimated that a patriotic program would be arranged for observance at the Convention Hall on the afternoon of May 30, prior to the decoration of graves of fallen heroes of the World war and all other wars suffered by the country.

Home grown flowers, claimed to be in abundance about Ada, will be used in the decoration of the graves of all veterans of war, regardless of what conflict in the progress and perpetuation of peace in the United States. The flowers will be used to decorate the stage at the Convention Hall before being taken to the cemetery for more appropriate use.

Committees will be appointed to make a canvass of the city to secure a sufficient quantity of flowers for the occasion.

CONFEDERATE VETERANS TO ATTEND CHICKASHA MEET

(From Sunday's Daily)

Information reaching here concerning the annual reunion of the Confederate veterans of this state at Chickasha on July 2, 3, and 4 brings to attention the fact that the local chapter of veterans will be strongly represented this year.

"No, sir. You've done enuff," growled the old general.

"One o' his party stepped up to Jack. He were dressed like a high-up officer in the army. They was a curious look in his eyes—kind o' skered like. Seemed so I'd seen him afore somewhere.

"I fancy ye're a good shot, sir—a good shot, sir—what?" he says to Jack, an' the words come as fast as a bird's twitter.

"I've had a lot o' practice," says our boy.

"Kin ye kill that bird—what—what?" says he, p'intin' at a hawk that were a-cuttin' circles in the air.

"If he comes clus' nough," says Jack.

"I passed him the loaded pistol. In 'bout two seconds he lifted it and bang she went, an' down come the hawk.

"Them fellers all looked at one 'nother.

"Gin'ral, shake hands with this 'ere boy," says the man with the skered eyes. "If he is a Yankee he's a decent lad—what?"

"The gin'ral shook hands with Jack an' says he: 'Young man, I have no doubt o' yer curidge or yer decency.'

"A grand pair o' hosses an' a closed coach driv up an' the ol' what-whatter an' two other men got into it an' hustled off 'cross the field towards the pike which it looked as if they was in a hurry. 'Fore he were out o' sight a military ambulance driv up. Preston come over to us an' says he:

"We better be goin'."

"Do ye know who he were?" asks Jack.

"If ye know ye better fergit it," says Preston.

"How could I? He were the King o' England," says Jack. "I knowed him by the look o' his eyes."

"Sart'in sure," says I. "He's the man that was bel'n' told in a chair."

"Hush! I tell ye to fergit it," says Preston.

"I can fergit all but the fact that he behaved like a gentleman," says Jack.

"I s'pose he were usin' his private brain," says I.

This, with some slight changes in spelling, paraphrasing and punctuation, is the account which Solomon Binkus gave of the most exciting adventure these two friends had met with.

Preston came to Jack and whispered: "The outcome is a great surprise to the other side. Young Clarke is a dead shot. An injured officer of the English army may cause unexpected embarrassment. But you have time enough and no haste. You can take the post chaise and reach the ship well ahead of her sailing."

"I am of a mind not to go with you," Jack said to Solomon. "When I go, I shall take Margaret with me."

So it happened that Jack returned to London while Solomon waited for the post chaise to Deale.

CHAPTER X

The Lady of the Hidden Face.

Next morning at ten, the door boy at his lodgings informed Jack that a lady was waiting to see him in the parlor. The lady was deeply veiled. She did not speak, but arose as he entered the room and handed him a note. She was tall and erect with a fine carriage. Her silence was impressive, her costume admirable.

The note in a script unfamiliar to the young man was as follows:

"You will find Margaret waiting in a coach at eleven today at the corner of Harley street and Twickenham road."

The veiled lady walked to the door and turned and stood looking at him. Her attitude said clearly: "Well, what is your answer?"

"I will be there at eleven," said the young man.

The veiled lady nodded, as if to indicate that her mission was ended, and withdrew.

Jack was thrilled by the information, but wondered why it was so wrapped in mystery. Not ten minutes had passed after the departure of the veiled lady when a messenger came with a note from Sir Benjamin Hare. In a cordial tone, it invited Jack to breakfast at the Almack club at twelve-thirty. The young man returned his acceptance by the same messenger, and in his best morning suit went to meet Margaret. A cab conveyed him to the corner named. There was the coach with shades drawn low, waiting. A footman stood near it. The door was opened and he

Ada has been host to three gatherings of these old warriors in the past and has taken an active part in the state organization. A special saw Margaret looking out at him and shaking her hand.

"You see what a sly thing I am!" she said when, the greetings over, he sat by her side and the coach was moving. "A London girl knows how to get her way. She is terribly wise, Jack."

"But, tell me, who was the veiled lady?"

"A go-between. She makes her living that way. She is wise, discreet and reliable. There is employment for many such in this wicked city. I feel disgraced, Jack. I hope you will not think that I am accustomed to dark and secret ways. This has worried and distressed me, but I had to see you."

"And I was longing for a look at you," he said.

"I was sure you would not know how to pull these ropes of intrigue. I have heard all about them. I couldn't help that, you know, and be a young lady who is quite alive."

"Our time is short and I have much to say," said Jack. "I am to breakfast with your father at the Almack club at twelve-thirty."

She clasped her hands and said, with a laughing face, "I knew he would ask you!"

"Margaret, I want to take you to America with the approval of your father, if possible, and without it, if necessary."

"I think you will get his approval," said the girl, with enthusiasm. "He has heard all about the duel. He says every one he met, of the court party, last evening, was speaking of it. They agree that the old general needed that lesson. Jack, how proud I am of you!"

She pressed his hand in both of hers.

"I couldn't help knowing how to shoot," he answered. "And I would not be worthy to touch this fair hand of yours if I had failed to resent an insult."

"Although he is a friend of the general, my father was pleased," she went on. "He calls you a good sport. 'A young man of high spirit who is not to be played with,' that is what he said. Now, Jack, if you do not stick too hard on principles—if you can yield only a little, I am sure he will let us be married."

"I am eager to hear what he may say now," said Jack. "Whatever it may be, let us stick together and go to America and be happy. It would be a dark world without you. May I see you tomorrow?"

"At the same hour and place," she answered.

They talked of the home they would have in Philadelphia and planned its garden, Jack having told of the site he had bought with great trees and a river view. They spent an hour which lent its abundant happiness to many a long year and when they parted, soon after twelve o'clock, Jack hurried away to keep his appointment.

Sir Benjamin received the young man with a warm greeting and friendly words. Their breakfast was served in a small room where they were alone together, and when they were seated the baronet observed:

"I have heard of the duel. It has set some of the best tongues in England wagging in praise of the 'Yankee boy.' One would scarcely have expected that."

"No, I was prepared to run for my life—not that I planned to do any great damage," said Jack.

"You can shoot straight—that is evident. They call your delivery of that bullet swift, accurate and merciful. Your behavior has pleased some very eminent people. The blustering talk of the general excites no sympathy here. In London, strangers are not likely to be treated as you were."

"If I did not believe that I should be leaving it," said Jack. "I should not like to take up dueling for an amusement, as some men have done in France."

"You are a well-built man inside and out," Sir Benjamin answered. "You might have a great future in England. I speak advisedly."

Their talk had taken a turn quite unexpected. It flattered the young man. He blushed and answered:

"Sir Benjamin, I have no great faith in my talents."

"On terms which I would call easy, you could have fame, honor and riches, I would say."

"At present I want only your daughter. As to the rest, I shall make myself content with what may naturally come to me."

"And let me name the terms on which I should be glad to welcome you to my family."

"Loyalty to your king and a will to understand and assist his plans."

"I could not follow him unless he will change his plans."

The baronet put down his fork and looked up at the young man. "Do you really mean what you say?" he demanded. "Is it so difficult for you to do your duty as a British subject?"

"Sir Benjamin, always I have been taught that it is the duty of a British subject to resist oppression. The plans of the king are oppressive. I cannot fall in with them. I love Margaret as I love my life, but I must keep myself worthy of her. If I could think so well of my conduct, it is because I have principles that are inviolable."

"At least I hope you would promise me not to take up arms against the king."

"Please don't ask me to do that. It would grieve me to fight against England. I hope it may never be, but I would rather fight than submit to tyranny."

The baronet made no reply to this declaration so firmly made. A new look came into his face. Indignation and resentment were there, but he did not forget the duty of a host. He began to speak of other things. The breakfast went on to its end in an atmosphere of cool politeness.

When they were out upon the street together, Sir Benjamin turned to him and said:

"Now that we are on neutral ground, I want to say that you Americans are a stiff-necked lot of people. You are not like any other breed of men. I am done with you. My way cannot be yours. Let us part as friends and gentlemen ought to part. I say goodbye with a sense of regret. I shall never forget your service to my wife and daughter."

"Think not of that," said the young man. "What I did for them I would do for any one who needed my help."

"I have to ask you to give up all hope of marrying my daughter."

"That I cannot do," said Jack. "Over that hope I have no control. I might as well promise not to breathe."

"But I must ask you to give me your word as a gentleman that you will hold no further communication with her."

"Sir Benjamin, I shall be frank with you. It is an unfair request. I cannot agree to it."

"What do you say?" the Englishman asked in a tone of astonishment, and his query was emphasized with a firm tap of his cane on the pavement.

"I hate to displease you, sir, but if I made such a promise, I would be sure to break it."

"Then, sir, I shall see to it that you have no opportunity to oppose my will."

In spite of his fine restraint, the eyes of the baronet glowed with anger, and he quickly turned from the young man and hurried away.

Jack turned his steps toward Franklin's door.

"I am like the land of Goshen, amid the plagues of Egypt," said Franklin, when the young man was admitted to his office. "My gout is gone and I am in good spirits in spite of your adventure."

"And I suppose you will scold me for the adventure,"

"You will scold yourself when the consequences have arrived. They will be sure to give you a spanking. The deed is done, and well done. On the whole I think it has been good for the cause, but bad for you."

"Why?"

"You may have to run out of England to save your neck and the face of the king. He was there, I believe?"

"Yes, sir."

"The injured lad is in a bad way. The wound caught an infection. Intense fever and swelling have set in. I helped Sir John Pringle to amputate the arm this afternoon, but even that may not save the patient. Here is a storm to warn the wandering linnet to his shade. A ship goes tomorrow evening. Get ready to take it. In that case your marriage will have to be delayed. Rush men are often compelled to live on hope and die fast."

"With Sir Benjamin, the duel has been a help instead of a hindrance," said the young man. "My stubborn soul has been the great obstacle."

Then he told of his interview with Sir Benjamin Hare.

Franklin put his hand on Jack's shoulder and said with a smile:

"My son, I love you. I could wish you to be no different. Cheer up. Time will lay the dust, and perhaps sooner than you think."

"I hope to see Margaret tomorrow morning."

"Ah, then, what Grecian arts of soft persuasion?" Franklin quoted. "I hope that she, too, will follow the great star in the West!"

"I hope so, but I greatly fear that our meeting will be prevented."

LANGLEY HANDED TWO YEAR VISIT IN U. S. PRISON

Federal Judge Cochran Hands Down Stiff Sentence For Solon ATTORNEYS APPEAL

Status of Kentucky Congressman in Washington Now Under Discussion

COVINGTON, Ky., May 13.—Judge A. M. J. Cochran of the federal court today sentenced Congressman John W. Langley of Kentucky convicted of conspiracy in connection with a whiskey transaction in 1921 to two years in the federal prison at Atlanta.

COVINGTON, Ky., May 13.—Attorneys representing Congressman John W. Langley, Kentucky, was found guilty by a jury in federal court here of conspiring to sell and transport liquor, appeared before Judge Cochran today and announced they would appeal his case. Judge Cochran gave them until 1 o'clock today to prepare their motion.

Attorneys for Milton Lizabeth of Philadelphia, co-defendant with Langley and likewise found guilty, also announced their intention of appealing their verdict.

It is expected that Judge Cochran will immediately pass upon the motion and if they are overruled will pass sentence.

WASHINGTON, May 13.—The case of Representative Langley, Republican, Kentucky, who was found guilty yesterday by a federal court in Kentucky of conspiracy in which whiskey transactions were involved, was taken up today by the house committee named to investigate the charges against him.

Chairman Burton refused to predict what action might be taken by the committee which also has been looking into charges against Representative Zihlman, Republican, Maryland. He pointed out that Langley's appeal must be passed on before the court's charges against him can be considered definitely concluded.

Pending appeal Mr. Burton said he understood Langley would not participate in any of his duties as a house member and that temporarily he had turned over to Representative Elliott, Republican, Pennsylvania the chairmanship of the public buildings committee.

A formal report on the Zihlman case, Mr. Burton said, would be made in the near future.

Fewer Men Teachers.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 13.—Teaching as a profession for men in California is on the wane, judging from the enrollment at the state teachers college here. The college has 633 women and two men. Members of the faculty attribute the dearth of male teachers to the increasing opportunities for profitable work that carries men outdoors.

WOMAN FACES LONG TERM IN JAIL HERE

Manda Hammond alias Leona Davis, will spend 228 days in jail before running into real complications in the penalties to be exacted from writing worthless checks.

The lone woman inmate of the county jail will spend the remaining days of 1924 within the gloomy walls of the county jail unless some further action is taken toward the payment of her fines which extend the period of her incarceration.

Regardless of what action may be taken by friends in the matter of freedom for the woman, she must serve 120 days in the county jail or practically four months as set out in the sentence of Justice Joseph Anderson before whom she appeared yesterday.

Justice Anderson, at the end of the preliminary hearing, sentenced the woman to 30 days each on the four counts on passing worthless checks and assessed a fine of $10 and costs in each of the four misdemeanor counts. The total time extracted from the sentence and fine amounted to 228 days.

Nor has Manda Hammonds, alias Leona Davis, paid the penalty for her debt hand in passing checks on Ada merchants—she was also bound over on a bond of $1000 to await action in a district court on a felony charge, a fifth check having been passed for an amount exceeding $20, which imposes felony action.

To heap to the coals of her retribution, Manda Hammonds, alias Leona Davis, will face similar charges at Enid following the disposal of her case in district court, which will be taken up when she has served 228 days in the county jail.

Notice of Sale of Lands Under Execution

State of Oklahoma,
County of Pontotoc, ss.
IN THE DISTRICT COURT
No. 5717

Ebey Sugg & Company, plaintiff, vs.
H. F. Reed, defendant.

Notice is hereby given, that in pursuance of a writ of execution issued out of the Sheriff's office of the District Court, in and for Pontotoc County, Oklahoma, on the 5th day of May, 1924, wherein Ebey Sugg & Company was plaintiff and H. F. Reed was defendant, commanding me to levy upon property belonging to said defendant, H. F. Reed, sufficient to satisfy a judgment rendered in said action in favor of Ebey Sugg & Company for the sum of $503.40 with interest at 6 percent from August 1, 1922; I have levied upon certain lands and tenements belonging to H. F. Reed, not exempt from sale under execution, for want of goods and chattels of the said H. F. Reed, to-wit: Tract No. 1. The North half of the Northwest Quarter of the Southeast Quarter of the Southeast Quarter of Section 35, Township 3 North, Range 6 East, and Tract No. 2. An undivided one-third interest in the west half of the Southwest Quarter of the Southeast Quarter of Section 31, Township 3 North, Range 6 East.

situated in the County of Pontotoc, and have duly caused said lands and tenements to be appraised according to law as follows: Tract No. 1, $100.00, Tract No. 2, $75.00.

Therefore notice is hereby given that in pursuance of the commands of said writ, I will offer for sale and sell for cash to the highest bidder, said lands and tenements or so much thereof as will satisfy said judgment and costs, on the 24th day of June at 10 o'clock a. m. of said day at the front door of the court house in the City of Ada in said County and State.

Witness my hand this 13th day of May, 1924.

ADA INDEPENDENTS AGAIN ON BOTTOM OF COUNTING OARD

(From Monday's Daily)

The Ada Independents could not throw off the jinx that has been a persistent visitor on their bench this season and Sunday went down to the second defeat at the hands of the Wilson team, the baseball aggregation of workers from the Dixie-Carter oil field, by a final tally of 5 to 4.

Threatening to raise the lead and force the game into extra innings, Ada proved a dangerous opponent after the sixth inning when the local tribe stepped into stride and forced three runs across the plate, one lone tally in the rear of the Wilson club.

Wilson started off the rally in the first inning when four grouped hits rushed two runs across the plate. Effective hitting in the fourth inning, coupled by two free bases and two errors brought in two more runs and gave the visitors a safe margin. Ada did not count until the sixth inning.

Both teams rallied in the ninth inning and obtained a run each. Ada's tally came after two men had passed down. Two errors placed two men on base and Rutledge's double brought the run in. Fain failed to deliver and take the game into extra innings.

The game was far from air tight baseball. While hitting was generous, errors figured prominently in the total score. Kirkpatrick dropped his first aerial offering of the season while H. Blackburn, said to play in Kirk's class, muffed one out in right field. Young is marked up with two errors, while Plummer, Wilson short, is accredited with three errors.

Davis on the mound for Ada had difficulty in finding his stride but proved a hard problem when his curves began peppering around the plate. Davis permitted nine hits, two free bases and struck out six men who faced him.

O. Blackburn was hitting his best stride in the early part of the game and held the locals to a lone hit until the sixth inning. Blackburn allowed eight hits, hit two batters for free bases and also obtained six strike outs.

LITTLE CHANCE FOR FREE TEXT BOOKS NOW

OKLAHOMA CITY.—With Governor Trapp and Parker LaMoore both out of the city, it was reported at the office of M. A. Nash today that no appointments had been made to the textbook commission. As Trapp will be away until Friday night with the Oklahoma City trade trippers, it is considered doubtful if the appointments will be made this week. This, it is generally considered, ends the last faint hope of making the free textbook law operative this year.

Earthquake in Balkans

Constantinople, May 14.—An earthquake is reported in the region of Ezerum, several villages have been destroyed and about 50 lives lost.

ADA GOLFERS TAKE SULPHUR CONTEST

Murray Pill Chasers Unable To Best Locals on Local Green

(From Monday's Daily)

The Ada Golf club scored its first victory in the match Sunday morning with the team representing the Sulphur Golf club in the play on the local green.

While the defeat of the Sulphur team was decisive, the play was trained sufficient to be interesting to those of the Ada club who participated and the others who watched the contest.

The final count as tabulated by Paul Alderson, who was in charge of the match, showed that the ten Ada stick wielders had gained an advantage of nine points from the totals on the course, Ada counting 24 points and Sulphur 15.

The team from Sulphur were sports of rare genius and worthy contestants, according to Alderson who praised the sportsmanship and play of the Sulphur contestants. The team of ten players from Sulphur came over early Sunday morning in cars and remained over Sunday afternoon for the ball game.

The match here Sunday was the second inter-town match this year, Holdenville having taken off the honors in a previous contest.

The results of the individual matches were: Alderson-Williamson Match, Alderson 6 holes; Matlows-Slover, 1 hole; Matthews-Latimore, 1 hole; Givens-Latimore, 1 hole; Sledge-Ramsey, 5 holes; Strange-Holden, 5 holes; Coffman-Sanders, 5 holes; Davis-Sanders, tied.

MAYFIELD SENATE SEAT UNDER FIRE

Peddy's Attorneys Direct Probe on Campaign Expenditures

WASHINGTON, May 12.—Temporarily putting aside the question of the Ku Klux Klan influence in the 1920 senatorial election in Texas, the senate committee investigating George E. Teddy's contest for the seat occupied by Senator Mayfield, today took up charges of excessive campaign expenditures by Mayfield supporters.

T. F. Hunter, attorney of Wichita Falls, Texas, was questioned about campaign finances after T. R. Boone of the same place had testified that Mayfield told him Hunter was one of his "largest contributors."

Luther Nichols, attorney for Peddy, directed Hunter to tell what campaign funds he had raised for Mayfield. He replied that he never made any contribution directly to Mayfield but had paid $750 towards his election.

Nichols further suggested that Hunter had been given by Mayfield a permit to drill an oil well, said permit being dated two days before it was actually issued. Hunter denied it.

"Was there any relation to your campaign contribution and Mayfield granting the permit?" asked Senator Neely, democrat, West Virginia. "Not the least," he answered.

MIAMI.—Physical conditions among Ottawa county school children are "deplorable," according to Miss Margaret McAdams, county health nurse. She found 422 defective children during April her report shows. Ninety-eight had defective eyes and 17 were listed as tuberculosis suspects. One hundred and eighty-five children were underweight, the nurse reported.

Geologists Go to Tish

The geology class of the college, consisting of about twenty members drove to Tishomingo Friday in pursuit of further knowledge of the science they are studying.

They returned yesterday after a stay filled with energetic exploration and acquisition of scientific knowledge.

Many of the Christian people of Ada and of the County will be interested to know something definite about the results of the course of study on the life of Christ given under the auspices of the Boy Scout Council and ably assisted by the ministers of Ada and of the County. A total of 261 Boy Scouts attended these bible classes. All of them except 6 of these classes met before the school session began so that the scouts had to come in 30 minutes before school began.

The total number of Scouts up-to-date, who have taken the examination on the life of Christ in Ada is 104. Of this number, 66 passed the examination. 38 failed even after they had had from 4 to 12 days instruction.

In the county, including Allen, Stonewall, Francis, Fitzhugh, Roff, Colbert, Latta, Pickett, Oakman, and Vanoss 62 scout boys passed the examination and 31 failed.

The total of the number of scouts who took the examination in Ada and the county was 197. The total number who have passed are 128 and the total number who have failed are 69.

Six more scouts at Latta will take the examination, which will bring the total number of scouts in Ada and the county who will have taken the short course in instruction on the life of Christ and who will have taken the examination to a total of 203 scouts.

Six ministers of Ada and the county assisted in this work and they taught 135 of these scouts in these classes. The scout executive taught sometimes as many as six classes in a day, and the total number of scouts taught by him is 126.

Pontotoc County has had more scouts and more boys for that matter, studying the life of the greatest person who ever came into the world, than any other county in the state of Oklahoma and for that matter, perhaps, in the U. S.

Master scouts of troop 9 went to the lodge last night. They spent a chilly night under a few bedclothes but had much fun.

Fifteen of Roy Meek's scouts and Clarence Cals went fishing on Boggy Saturday afternoon.

The Lawrence scouts and the scouts of Glenwood school played a game of baseball Friday afternoon and Lawrence scouts won by 10 to 6 but they had to play hard to do it. Farley Smith and Lee Bushkirk were the battery for Ada and Turner Williams and Lewis Parker for Lawrence.

The game was played at Lawrence and many people saw it.

Latta scouts and Lawrence will play Thursday.

Troop No. 2 spent a night at the lodge recently. The scouts of troop 2 say that Judson Treadwell is some scoutmaster and that he has order. That is right.

The announcement will be made later who wins the free camping trips offered by the Bible classes of the city.

Many scouts have not registered yet and they must be re-registered soon or we cannot count you as scouts any longer.

Troop 3 had a fine meeting Friday night. Scoutmaster Irvin Bowles presented a scout ax to the Rotarians for having the best record in the Patrol Efficiency contest.

STONEWALL

Mrs. R. A. Strickland and little daughter Janita and Mrs. A. F. Chaney and little son Foster of Ada attended the May festival at the Stonewall high school Tuesday eve.

Mrs. Gladys Ross of the Jesse community visited her sister Beatrice Ross last Tuesday in the Breco hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Henson and family visited with Mrs. Henson's parents of Sulphur over Saturday and Sunday.

Mrs. J. W. Slaughter and children left on the night train last Saturday for an extended visit with her sister, Mrs. Reed in Texas.

Miss Isola Lowman who is attending the Teachers College in Ada spent the week end here with her parents.

Dr. Williams of Ozark, Ark., has now located in our little city. His family will move in the near future. Dr. Williams comes highly recommended and Stonewall is indeed very fortunate in securing him.

R. A. Strickland of Ada was a business visitor here Tuesday. Miss Eva Burrows and Miss Christine Ramsey of Ada spent the weekend here with homefolks.

Miss Rubye Walker spent Monday in Ada.

Sunday night at the Baptist church, Rev. L. E. Lamb preached the baccalaureate sermon for the graduating class. The program for the evening was announced by the High school superintendent, Mr. Harrel as follows: March—Onward Christian Soldiers, Vocal Solo, Lois Furlong; Vocal Trio, Evelyn Burris, Rubye Walker, Mildred Wilson.

Sermon by Rev. Lamb.

The graduating class roll was as follows: Ethel Nix, Ethel Roan, Moody Province, Furman Gibson, Raymond C. Walker, Rubye C. Walker, Willie Spence, Herman Garrett, Evelyn Burris and Mildred Wilson, Gordon Harrel, Supt., N. B. Benich, Principal.

A unique feature of the week was the most extensive May day festival in the history of Stonewall high, rendered by the entire school on Tuesday evening at 5:30 on the high school campus. Lots of time had been given to practice which proved itself by the variety of dances, and allegorical themes presented before the Queen of May.

Miss Georgia Furlong, and King, Robin Hood, Brown McKay, who were well attended by princesses, lords and flower girls in the "Dance of the Nations." Little Cupid, Lottie Billings, and flower girls, Pauline Correll, Lavoyce Malone, George Ann McKay and Violet McClosky deserve great praise for rendering their parts so beautifully. The different dances were, Swedish dance, First Grade, "Irish", seven girls; "Bleking" (Swiss), Fourth grade; "Butterfly" dance, Janice Henegar, Nell Truitt; "Chimes of Dun Kirk" (Norwegian), second and third grades; "Kinda Polka" (German) Second grade; "Highland Fling" (Scottish) by Edna Mae Peters.

Rubye Walker, Helen Carroll, Beatrice Branstetter, Thelma Scribner, Lucille Marshall; "Virginia Reel" (American); "Winding the May Pole", (English), Fifth and Sixth grades.

The great success of the occasion is given to the credit of the entire school faculty who worked out the program and also to the co-operation of school children and their parents. This occasion is long to be remembered by all who witnessed it.

Mrs. Z. K. McKay of Ada, was a Stonewall visitor last Tuesday and while here attended the May Festival.

A number of Stonewall people went to Ada Thursday evening to attend the May day festival at East Central which was postponed on account of the bad weather.

The Stonewall graduating class rendered their graduating exercises at the High school auditorium, to a full house May 8, 1924, at 8 p. m. Program was as follows:

Prayer, Rev. Lamb.
Salutation, Moody Province.
Reading, Rubye Walker.
Vocal solo, Evelyn Burris.
Valedictory, Ethel Roan.
Address, Dr. A. Linscheid.
Presentation of Diplomas by Prof. Harrel.

Piano solo, Herman Garrett.
Diplomas for the Eighth grade graduates were also given out at this time.

This overheard advice has been reported: If you make your living in this town, in heavens name, boost for it. If you don't like it, if you are dissatisfied with its surroundings, if you can't make your self fit in with the social life of the place, don't be mean enough to knock it; pack up your baggage, pick up and move; go where you will be satisfied, and you and the town will be better off. We want boosters, we need boosters and if you'll take the trouble on yourself to live straight, be honest, get out and make friends, you'll find yourself at the wind up a booster for Stonewall.

A flash from the pulpit. There are some men who never darken the doors of the church, still they would not live in the town without them.

J. E. Rives, who has been sawing timber near Coalgate was in Stonewall this week with homefolks. He stated that he has moved his machinery to Wapanucka and will remain there perhaps all summer, fall and winter as timber there is plentiful. He is shipping lumber in car load lots to a manufacturer in Detroit, Mich., and is doing a big business.

Sunday is Mother's Day. A song sermon will be rendered at the Baptist church Sunday evening at 8. Everybody invited.

WOMAN SEEKS TO OBTAIN DAMAGES

Values Unlived Years Of Husband's Life at $65,000

Is a man's life worth $65,000? That's what Mrs. Arch Moore, wife of the former manager of the Choctaw Cotton Oil company here who was killed when a Frisco passenger crashed into a car in which Moore was riding, is claiming in a damage suit against Robert Lee Barry, the driver of the car and the St. Louis-San Francisco railway company filed Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Moore alleges through her attorneys, G. H. and E. J. Geddings of Oklahoma City that joint negligence of Barry, the car driver and of St. Louis-San Francisco railway company was responsible for the death of her husband.

The petition, which was filed through mail in the office of the district court clerk, sets out the particulars of the midnight crash on the North Broadway street crossing in which Moore was a party of five driving south in a Dodge touring car on August 20, 1923.

The petition turns on the alleged negligence of Barry, driver of the car and for whom criminal charges were filed in connection with the wreck and death of Moore, claiming that Barry disregarded the pleas of her husband and others to stop and not attempt to cross the track before the approaching train. She alleged that Moore was the guest of Barry and was riding in the car on his invitation.

The petition next takes up the alleged negligence of the railroad, declaring that no whistle no alarm was sounded at the approach of the train to the crossing and that the train was running at the excessive and unlawful rate of 35 miles per hour.

The defendant in the suit turns her petition in the direction of both Barry and the railroad, alleging joint negligence.

Moore was 36 years of age and the father of one son, 14 years of age at the time of his death.

The damages sought in the suit is one of the largest amounts sought in suits filed here recently.

Over 710,000 motor vehicles were exported from the United States in 1920.

The astronomical day begins at noon, the civil day at midnight.

REVISED TAX CUT BILL GOES OVER TO FINAL SLASH

Tax Reduction Bill Clothed In Democratic Program Passed by Senate

MELLON PLAN SLASHED

President Had Asked for Mellon Plan; Other Program Forced Through

WASHINGTON, May 10.—Stripped almost of every vestige of the Mellon plan and clothed in the democratic program, the tax reduction bill was passed today by the senate, 69 to 15.

As a result it goes to conference for adjustment of differences with the house with its life at stake. Republican organization leaders in the senate today frankly admitted they would recommend veto of the measure by President Coolidge, if it was not transformed by the conference.

The president had asked congress for the Mellon plan. Although his views were not made known on the bill passed by house, which carried the remnants of the Mellon scheme, he has voiced specific opposition to some of the provisions inserted in the senate.

The senate bill goes practically as far in the general tax revision as that passed by the house. It provides generally for:

A 25 percent reduction in income taxes payable this year. Repeal or reduction of most of the special excise and miscellaneous taxes.

A 50 percent permanent cut in the taxes on incomes below $8000 and a general reduction in the taxes on higher incomes. The maximum surtax rate would be cut from 50 to 40 percent.

A 25 percent reduction on earned incomes up to $10,000.

Administration leaders opened their attack on the bill today just before passage, and fifteen republicans voted against it, while three others were paired against it.

The measure probably will not be taken up by the senate and house conference for final adjustment of differences before Tuesday and Chairman Smoot of the senate finance committee expects it to take two weeks to reach a settlement.

WASHINGTON, May 10.—The tax reduction bill was passed today by the senate.

It provides for a 25 percent cut in income taxes payable this year, and permanent revision downward on practically every federal tax. The Democratic proposal for reduction in the income schedule, modification of the corporation tax and full publicity of tax returns constitute salient provisions of the measure.

These and other changes made in the bill as passed by the house must now be taken up at a conference between members of the house and senate.

The finance committee chairman declared the senate had cut taxes $111,150,000 below the figure allowed in the bill as claimed by the finance committee.

"This is in addition to the estimated deficit of $50,000,000," Senator Smoot said.

Without a record vote the senate adopted just before the final roll call an amendment by Senator Simmons, Democrat, North Carolina, increasing from $2000 to $2,500 the exemption for heads of families with incomes of $5000 and over. Heads of families with incomes of less than $5000 now have such an exemption.

Twenty-six republicans and two farmer-labor senators voted with a solid Democratic line up for the bill.

The vote on final passage of the bill was 69 to 15.

NINE PRISONERS FLEE FOR WOODS

McAlester Prisoners Bolt For Safety When Guard Is Deluded

McALESTER, May 13.—Nine prisoners were missing after a careful check was made this forenoon following discovery that the confines of the stockade had been tunneled and the report spread that 12 convicts were gone.

Three escaping men were captured before they got across the prison farm and six others are being sought by a posse which is scouring the country in every direction. It is reported that all who escaped are long termers or lifers, the group including Will Tait whose sentence was commuted from death about a year ago.

McALESTER, May 13.—Twelve prisoners in the Oklahoma state penitentiary here escaped today while working in the prison brick yard. Seizing the opportunity when the guard was called to another part of the yard the men dashed across the prison farm scattering in to groups and disappearing in the timber. Prison guards and county officers took the trail at once. The escape appeared to have been pre-arranged the dash for liberty having been concerted simultaneously when the temporary attention of the guard was called away from the prisoners.

SUMMER SESSION TO EXCEED ALL PREVIOUS YEARS

It is now certain that the summer session beginning May 26th and continuing nine weeks will exceed all previous summer sessions in attendance and in the quality of work accomplished. Ample provision is being made to secure housing facilities, class rooms, and instructors sufficient to take care of all who may come.

Conferences. One of the outstanding features of the summer session will be a group of conferences of the utmost importance. Among these are:

A Rural Conference beginning Monday, June 7th and continuing throughout the week. All the County Superintendents in the District will be present at that time, and all problems pertaining especially to rural schools will receive attention. Among those who will be present to make this a notable week are: E. A. Duke; Miss Victoria Lyle; Haskell Pruitt, of the Department of Education; State Superintendent Nash; Dr. J. C. Mueser, of the rural field; and the eminent in the rural field. The week will be closed by a visit from the United States Commissioner of Education, Honorable J. J. Tigert, who will be here on Friday, June 13th.

A High School Conference will be for the purpose of discussing the problems peculiar to the high school in cities, towns, and villages. Those who will have charge of the conference are Mr. E. E. Brown; Mr. Luther Russell, of the High School Inspection Department; Dr. Edmondson, Chief High School Inspector of the State of Michigan; and Dr. J. R. Jewell, Dean of the School of Education in the University of Arkansas. Dr. Jewell was for years High School Inspector in the State of Kansas, and Dr. Edmondson has a nation wide reputation in the field of high school administration, supervision, and curriculum. This conference will begin Monday, June 16th, and continue throughout the week.

Vocational Teachers. At no time in American history has so much attention been given to the problem of Vocational Education as at the present time. A conference for vocational teachers will be held during the week beginning Monday, June 23rd. This conference will be under the direction of Dr. Arthur Dean of the Teachers College, Columbia University, assisted by Charles W. Briles and his staff from Oklahoma City, and by Dr. Dean, one of America's most famous vocational leaders. This conference will be valuable to everyone interested in Education, especially to those who are ?? ? ? one interested in Education, ?? ? ?

The Teachers College feels an exceptional pride in this list of special instructors. There are no more capable public school men and women in Oklahoma than those included in the foregoing list. Such men as Superintendent Barton, Superintendent Faust, Superintendent Heffley, Superintendent Morrison, Superintendent Bray, Superintendent Moffitt, have no superiors among the Superintendents of Oklahoma. The teachers who come here may rest assured that the instruction given by these men and women will be in every way equal to that offered in any Teachers College in the Southwest.

Recreation Features

Among these are the following: Monday, June 2nd, the faculty will give an entertainment upon the campus for the purpose of bringing about a better acquaintance between the faculty and the student body. Monday, June 9th, Miss Gay MacLearn, the most eminent dramatic impersonator in the country will give a recital. Monday, June 16th, the Redpath Hornor Premier Chautauqua begins and continues for seven days. This is the largest and best chautauqua on the Redpath Hornor Circuit. Each week-end there will be musical entertainments given by the college musical organizations such as the Band, the Orchestra, the Glee Clubs, and the Quartets. There will be a number of recreational programs by the Department of Physical Education for women, and the Department of Physical Education for men.

Buildings Used.

The Teachers College, in addition to its own buildings, has made arrangement with the Board of Education at Ada to use two of the largest ward school buildings. The Willard building, just one block from the Campus of the Teachers College, can be used without the least inconvenience to students. This, in fact, is no further from the Main Building of the Teachers College than is the Geology Building from the Administration Building at the State University.

The Hays Building will be used as a training school, the students teaching there under the direction of Critic Supervisors to be transported by automobiles from the Hays Building to the other buildings. A sufficient number of automobiles will make the rounds at the end of each hour, carrying student teachers from the other buildings of the College to the Hays Building, and from the Hays Building to the other buildings used. In this way there will not be the slightest inconvenience, even though the Hays Building is six blocks distance.

The Administration Building of the College is one of the largest buildings in any State Institution of the state. It will be devoted entirely to class room work, as will also the Education Building, and the Gymnasium. In this way it will be possible to operate three hundred and fifty classes daily, in addition to the classes in the Training School, and this number will be sufficient to accommodate the large attendance expected.

Equipment.

The equipment of the Teachers College has been considerably increased during the year. Laboratory and Library facilities have been doubled. In addition to this, the city of Ada has generously agreed to loan the Teachers College practically its entire equipment.

Living Expenses. Ada is the largest town in Oklahoma in which the State operates a summer school. There never has been in the past any difficulty in finding sufficient accommodations for all who attend, and it is not probable that there will be any difficulty this year. Board and room in good private families at convenient walking distance from the College may be had at from $5.00 to $7.50 a week. There is a limited number of light housekeeping rooms and rent houses, which may be secured to cut down the expenses. The total expenses of the summer session including board, room, books, and other expenses, need not exceed $75.00 for the nine weeks.

Special Subjects.

The program in full is given in another part of the Journal. The schedule of the classes shows that there will be three years of preparatory and four years of College work offered this summer. There will be nearly three hundred separate courses and three hundred and fifty classes daily.

Commercial Subjects.

Among the classes of exceptional interest are those of the Commercial Department which was organized last fall, and will be in session during the summer school. This includes Bookkeeping, Accounting, Shorthand, Typewriting, Commercial Law, and other business subjects.

Education.

The Education Department will offer advanced courses in Principles of Secondary Education, Junior High School, Current School Problems, Philosophy of Education, the Psychology of Exceptional Children, Abnormal Psychology, Vocational Education, and exceptionally strong courses in Primary and Intermediate Grade Methods, Educational Measurements and Intelligence tests will be under the direction of one of the foremost educators of Oklahoma. The training school will be bigger and better than ever before.

English.

The English Department will offer courses in the Bible as Literature, Poetics, Mythology and Story Telling, Public Speaking, Shakespeare, Middle English, Current Literature, Short Story, Modern Drama, Recent Novel and other advanced courses. There will be thorough courses in Literature, Composition, Literary Criticism and Expository Writing.

History and Sociology.

The History Department will offer History of England, The French Revolution, Europe Since the French Revolution, Present Day Europe, General Sociology, Modern Social Problems, American History, and Oklahoma History and Government. Several courses in economics will also be offered.

Rural Education.

The Department of Rural Education will offer an exceptional variety of courses among them Rural School Problems, Rural School Projects, and Rural Sociology, the Management of the Rural School, and Rural School Administration and Supervision. Our Rural Education Department has made an exceptional record this year in aiding in the promotion of better rural schools. Mr. Herring will have charge of the classes in rural education.

Health Education.

The Department of Biology will give a general course in Hygiene for the benefit of all who teach in the grades or in the rural schools, dealing with the problem of health education. It will also offer a course in Human Ecology which will deal especially with the influences of heredity and environment upon the human being. There will also be courses in Physical Education for men and Physical Education for women, exceptional courses in plays and games, as well as the customary courses in Theory of Coaching.

East Central has made an exceptional reputation in Music. There will be courses in Public School Music, Methods of Teaching Music in the grades and in high school, Harmony, etc. In addition there will be courses in Band, Orchestra, Piano, and Violin. This instruction is free except that individual lessons in Piano and Violin must be paid for by the student. Miss Ballard, Mr. Fentem, Miss Donaldson, Mrs. Emanuel, and Miss Strite compose the musical faculty for the summer term. They are too well known throughout Oklahoma to require any further introduction.

Public School Art.

Miss Hoover, who has directed the Public School Art here for the last four years, has done much to make Art practical. This summer she will be assisted by Mr. Clyde Clark, who has a state wide reputation as an artist.

Art will be taught largely from the standpoint of the teacher, and every lesson given will be applicable to work of the public schools.

Degrees and Certificates.

East Central is a member of the American Association of Teachers Colleges with an A rating. It is also a member of the North Central Association. It is, therefore, empowered to grant the following certificates and degrees:

Bachelor of Arts Degrees, Bachelor of Science Degrees, Life Certificates, Special Home Economics Certificates, Special Industrial Art Certificates, Special Commercial Teachers Certificates, Special Music Certificates, Two-Year State Certificates. Credits made at East Central may be applied upon county certificates.

Who Should Come.

1. Those who wish to prepare for work in rural and consolidated schools.
2. Those who wish to prepare for departmental teaching in Junior or Senior High Schools.
3. Those who wish to become supervisors in Home Economics, Industrial Arts, Commercial Subjects, or Public School Music.
4. Those who desire to apply their credits on first, second, or third grade county certificates.
5. Those who wish to improve

CHILDREN NEEDED IN HEALTH WORK

Director of Public Health Bureau Points Out Need Of Training

ATLANTA, May 9.—"The only way in which health training and instruction can be made to reach the intimate daily personal lives of all our people is through training the children in public schools." This is a statement made by Dr. Charles H. Keene, Director of the Bureau of Health Education of the state Department of Public Instruction, Harrisburg, Pa., before the National Tuberculosis Association today. "Teaching of health," says Dr. Keene, "must be as large a part of the regular school curriculum as teaching of arithmetic, geography, or any of the routine subjects. It will never be possible to get aside definitely for health teaching enough of the daily time available for school use so that all the necessary habits may be formed and information acquired concerning health."

"All school courses must be devised and taught in such a manner, then, as to permit frequent opportunities for correlation with the various parts of the health program. Physical geography becomes a matter of fascinating interest if we know its relation to the purity and safety of the water which we drink. Art becomes a more living thing when it is used, through posters and legends, to emphasize good habits relating to food, exercise, fresh air and cleanliness. History becomes much more than the accumulation of dry facts when we know the influence of health and disease on great movements of history. Health teaching should be interwoven with the other six chief factors in adequate school health program which are: hygiene of the school plant, physical education, the hygienic arrangement of the school program,

SIX ITALIANS HANGED IN LA. FOR MURDER

AMITE, La., May 9.—The hanging of six Italians for the murder exactly three years ago of Dallas Calmes, a restaurant owner, was completed when the trap was sprung on the last of the doomed men at 1:16 this afternoon. The first pair met death at 12:01 and the second pair was pronounced dead at 12:37.

Roy Leona of Brooklyn and Natalie Deamora of New Orleans were the first to meet their doom. They walked lazily to the pair of gallows that had been constructed for their execution and met death without any outward demonstration.

Andre Lamaita of Chicago, who had wounded himself slightly with a pocket knife, and Joseph Bocchio of Chicago collapsed when being brought out of their confinement to be hung and it was necessary to place them at the trap strapped in chairs.

Joseph Giglio of Brooklyn and Joseph Rini of New Orleans were the last to taste death from the gallows. They faced death calmly and with almost reckless abandon. Giglio and Rini talked freely before their death. Rini was a born American but Giglio still held to his native Italy.

Bocchio, whose execution was the contention of several petitions in seeking clemency and for whom the widow and relatives of the slain man as well as the leading citizens of the Parish have assisted in seeking a stay of execution, went to the gallows in a stupor after all efforts to stay the hand of the executioner had failed.

The death of Bocchio is the concluding paragraph to a most colorful life. The doomed man was preparing his life for priesthood when the pall of murder settled over his life. In a concluding statement he said, "I have done my most to drive away fear. If I die, I die—perhaps I shall live again. I hate to leave so soon, there is plenty of sunshine in life and I want more time to play."

The ground floor of the jail looked more like an arsenal than a prison. In addition to the guards that had been placed around the parish jail yards, several troops were inside the jail enclosure.

All prisoners gave away souvenirs to the guards who had watched over them since their incarceration at Amite. Giglio gave away a watch and a necktie. Lamaita gave away a Chinese ring and others gave away trinkets to the guards.

"Capital punishment is criminal and should be abolished in the United States," Rini told press representatives before going to the gallows.

their time during the summer by advancing their education along cultural lines.

6. Those who wish training for business or clerical positions.

7. High School students who wish to make one unit of credit during the summer term.

Prospects Good.

East Central has had a most marvelous growth. It will confer more degrees and credits, more life certificates this year than it had students enrolled during the regular year four years ago. At the conclusion of the present year it will have multiplied its attendance of four years ago over three hundred percent. This, due solely to the fact that East Central has a reputation for thorough class work. Expenses are low, standards are high, and tuition is free.

HEAVY CROP LOSS IN FLOOD HAVOC

Virginia Towns Hit When Rivers Are Overflowed By Rains

RICHMOND, Va., May 13.—One death and wide spread property and crop damage has been reported as a result of the floods in Shenandoah Rappahannock, Rivanna and other rivers and streams in the state due to heavy rains of the last few days. Much movable property and livestock has been saved, however, due to adequate warnings.

William Lucas was drowned at Fredericksburg when the Rappahannock had risen 25 feet last night and is still swelling. A large number of buildings had been washed away and the lowlands were inundated. The heaviest damage appeared to have been suffered at Charlottesville where the lighting and street car systems were paralyzed and property loss estimated at $200,000. Harpers Ferry, West Virginia, and Harrisonburg, Virginia, also reported damage and were in darkness.

Seven bridges over the Rivanna were washed away by a 25 foot rise and the railroad and other spans injured.

EAST CENTRAL SENDS OUT CHAMP DEBATERS

(From Thursday's Daily)

With kindred regularly to the coming of Spring, annually East Central sends out a select number of young men and women who wrest supremacy from other teacher colleges of the state through purely oratorical efforts or debating.

This season East Central fared well in every contest in which the school honors have been hoisted to the intercollegiate forum. The East Central debate teams have not been defeated during this season, the second one to pass through the storm of state oratory without defeat.

The debate teams of East Central have gained the supremacy in the east portion of the state by defeating Tahlequah and Durant, this being the second year of similar performance.

Arrangements are under way at the present time looking to a debate between the East Central champion team and the Edmond team for state honors. Edmond having won the honors for the western part of the state.

The teams responsible for the defeat of Durant and Tahlequah teams are, Martin Phillips, and A. D. Patton, and Odous Honaker and Moss Wimlish.

Idaho is the third sheep and wool producing state in the union.

A $2,500,000 hotel is being planned for the city of Prague.

Child-birth

WHEN the Little One arrives, you can have that moment more free from suffering than you have perhaps imagined. An eminent physician, expert in this science, has shown the way. It was he who first produced the great remedy, "Mother's Friend." Mrs. C. J. Hartman, Scranton, Pa., says: "With my first two children I had a doctor and a nurse and then they had to use instruments, but with my last two children I used 'Mother's Friend' and had only a nurse; we had no time to get a doctor because I wasn't very sick—only about ten or fifteen minutes." as our mothers and grandmothers did. Don't wait, start today, and meanwhile write to Bradford Regulator Co., P.O. Box 100, Atlanta, Ga., for a free illustrated book containing information every expectant mother should have. "Mother's Friend" is sold by all drug stores—everywhere.
